Community mapping and collaboration: Convening community stakeholders

This document is part of the Complex Care Startup Toolkit, a practical collection of guides, templates, and other tools to launch and grow a new complex care program. Find the full toolkit at www.nationalcomplex.care/startup-toolkit.

Communities working together on shared goals can make a significant difference and build structures that support the health and wellness of the population, especially the most vulnerable and marginalized. These resources provide tools to increase consumer participation and leadership, convene and manage stakeholders and working groups, as well as guidance on building trauma-informed systems of care.

Key considerations

1. Together, you and your key community stakeholders form a network that will support your target populations. Growing these relationships and partnerships over time will deepen and broaden your collective impact.
2. How does your organization integrate the perspectives of individuals with lived experience into programming?

Below, find resources you can use as you work through each of these key considerations.

Resources

Key consideration # 1: Together, you and your key community stakeholders form a network that will support your target populations. Growing these relationships and partnerships over time will deepen and broaden your collective impact.

About the Camden Coalition of Healthcare Providers

We are a multidisciplinary nonprofit working to improve care for people with complex health and social needs in Camden, NJ, and across the country. The Camden Coalition works to advance the field of complex care by implementing person-centered programs and piloting new models that address chronic illness and social barriers to health and well-being. Supported by a robust data infrastructure, cross-sector convening, and shared learning, our community-based programs deliver better care to the most vulnerable individuals in Camden and regionally.

The National Center for Complex Health and Social Needs (National Center), an initiative of the Camden Coalition, connects complex care practitioners with each other and supports the field with tools and resources that move complex care forward. The National Center's founding sponsors are the Atlantic Philanthropies, the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, and AARP.
